I am writing to demand that community radio be re-legalized. The radio waves are a public asset and right now the public is gaining little use from this valuable resource due to the way the radio waves have been handed over to greedy corporations.

Furthermore, I would like to state:

- I agree with Americans for Radio Diversity's comments regarding RM-9242.
- Community radio should not be limited to one watt.
- Owners of any radio station should be required to live near their stations.
- There should be a low limit to the number of stations any one person or company can own.
- Stations should be required to provide measurable local content.
- Amnesty should be granted to any current unlicensed community broadcasters, who have bravely defended their 1st Amendment rights.
